

“I cannot teach anybody anything, I can only make them think.”

-Socrates, 469-399 B.C.

Remembering

What is ...?
What may be listed about ...?
What happened before/after ...?
How many ...?
What do you recall about ...?
Which part ...?
What characters ...?
Who was it that ...?
How would you describe ...?
When did ... happen?
Which is true/false?
What details do you find that ...?
How would you define ...?

Understanding

What explanation is there for ...?
What difference/s do you see ...?
Who do you think ...?
What is the main idea ...?
What would you write to describe ...?
How would you classify ...?
How would you paraphrase ...?
Which character is key ...?
What would your prediction be for ...?
How would you explain ...?
What is your estimate ...?
How would you distinguish between ...?
What example of ... do you see ...?

Applying

How would ... apply to ...?
How is... related to ...?
What other way could you look at ...?
What real life example can be given for...?
What comparison may be made between ... & ...?
What are the strengths and weaknesses of ...?
How would you interpret ...?
How may ... be demonstrated?

Analyzing

Why do you say ...?
What might be inferred about ...?
What is the problem/s ...?
How does this compare/contrast with ...?
Would you summarize in your own words ...?
How is ... similar to ...?
What characteristics are evident for classification?
How do you distinguish between ...?

Evaluating

How would you assess ...?
What are your reasons for ...?
What evidence is there to support ...?
How would you prioritize ... and why?
How do you explain ...?
How can that assumption be verified or disproved?
Why you agree/disagree with ...?
How would you decide ...?
What criteria would you use evaluate ...?

Creating

What solutions are there ...?
What might be combined to ...?
What ideas do you have about ...?
What is the plan for ...?
How would you create/design ...?
What may be written about ...?
What are some other ways to ...?
What are some changes ...?
What invention would be helpful ...?