

Topic: Effort - (Evidence or lack of evidence of life principle)

Situation: Getting homework done and in on time

Cause	Effect
1. I'm not getting my homework done. I'm playing video games, watching t.v., or playing with friends after school.	1. I'm getting poor grades for late work or missed assignments. My folks are really upset with me and are going to ground me if things don't change.
2. Do my assignments as soon as I get home, away from the t.v. and video games.	2. I get the work done and maybe have time to play afterwards.
3. Go to the school study sessions and get help if I need it.	3. Will have time to work without video games or the t.v. and get help when I need it.
4. Get my homework in on time.	4. My grades will improve.

Conclusions: I have to change what I'm doing now and get my homework done before playing video games, watching t.v., or playing with my friends.

Connections: My choices to not get my homework done first create problems for me at school and at home. I can change what's happening by making different choices.
