

Uniqueness

The sense that one's personal qualities are special, different and worthy of respect from others.